

Note:

denotes a protected method and underlining means it's a static method. I chose this way to distinguish helper methods within the class.